It seems to me that nowadays

(The thought has just occurred)

That this don't seem to be a man,

As long as they are heard.

They can witness each other's sins,

And they do not fear reproach.

Even though their line of chatter

Is enough to fill the room.

Laws! We kept aloof from elders,

And we landed on our feet.

When I was but a little lad,

And spankings were in style.

I guess that Father, time has surely

Turned another page.

There's that "me" face and tremble!

In this ultra-modern scene.

Now, you wonder who the boss is,

When some one slams the door.

If you can't see for a favor,

Like as not you'll hit the door.

Years ago, to "sass" our parents,

Well, "sass" was worth our while.

When the spankings were in style.

Nowadays, each cheerful chatter

Greets you by your given name.

They call old folks, "Bill" or "Sam",

Without a mill of "yes" or "no".

If they do some teeny errand,

"Do you expect they'd do it?"

"Do you expect they'd do it?"

Well, you've got another think.

But your boots we did the errands.

In those old days, with a smile,

And we called them "Sir" and "Madam".

Saco Valley United Parish

Ministering to Lovell, Fryeburg Harbor, North, West and Center Fryeburg, Stow, Union Hill and Toll Bridge

At the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Parish Council held at North Fryeburg last week with David A. Beatty in the chair, it was decided to hold the third annual winter carnival at North Fryeburg, February 14th. The earlier date was chosen so as to lessen the risk of an early spring thaw spoiling the ice and snow conditions. There will be the usual snowshoe and ski events during the day, and at night a minstrel show will be given in the Red Men's Hall. Meals will be served during the day by the combined Ladies' Aids of the parish. Announcements will be made as committees complete their work on details.

Revs. Bull and Brandon were visiting guests at supper and at the mass meeting held in the library afterwards. Mr. Bull led the singing and then conducted a round-table conference on larger parish methods, which was very interesting, especially as the two parishes exchanged experiences in the service to the rural communities.

The matter of the parish bulletin was discussed and it is hoped that arrangements can be made to have the weekly circular of parish activities mailed to every home in the United Parish.

The Harbor Men's Club held its regular monthly meeting on Friday. Too bad some of the members were too weary after a day in the hush or on the ice to put in an appearance. Asa O. Pickie was the guest speaker, and after the splendid supper served by Mrs. Gupill, a very helpful talk on community co-operation.

The next meeting of the club comes the day before the winter carnival, and whether the hall postponed or not will be announced later.

An all-parish supper meeting of the Pioneers is to be held at the Harbor, Friday evening. The boys will have supper together and then spend the evening in organized games, stunts and wrestling with business meeting and study period as well.

Through a change of plans the Bates College Deputation Team will visit the parish this week end, Jan. 17 and 18. Three students are expected and they will have charge of the social and entertainment following the supper at Lovell, Saturday evening. Addresses will be given by the boys at all the services in the parish on Sunday.

The church night at Toll Bridge announced for Saturday will be postponed on account of the visit of the Bates students.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered at the close of Sunday evening's service at Lovell.

KEZAR FALLS

Callahans Arrived Home—Library Association Officers—'Aunt Lucia' Presented.

Last Sunday morning, Rev. Arthur Callaghan spoke at the church of St. Paul, taking for his text the 10th verse of the 15th chapter of Corinthians, "By the Grace of God, I Am What I Am." Mr. Callaghan, after his trip to Indianapolis at 2 p. m., Friday, arrived at Cornish station at 6:30 p. m., the following day. As a natural consequence, they were weary by their trip, but Kezar Falls looked good to them and they were gladly welcomed.

At the meeting of the Library Association, held Jan. 7th, in the reading room of the library, the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Mrs. F. G. Devereaux.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. W. A. Garner.
Sec.—Mrs. E. W. Sawyer.
Treas.—W. T. Norton.
Librarian.—Mrs. E. C. Norton.
Trusts.—C. T. Fox.
Assist.—H. A. Merrifield.
Assistant.—H. E. Edlin.

The members were well satisfied with their year's work, it being a pleasure to have the opportunity to have the remembrances of cards and flowers to assist in church work. The town officers this year kindly presented the club with four dollars to be spent in the upkeep of books.

The Daisy Class of which there are many members, met with Mrs. W. T. Norton, Jan. 6th. The usual order of business was followed, and the society was free from apple maggot injury, with not over 10 per cent injury from other worms, and with chemical analysis of spray residue less than .01 grain of arsenic to one pound of the fruit.

"Prices for Maine fruit have been satisfactory," he said. "Good quality fruit at point of shipment is netting as high as three and a half dollars a barrel. The so-called embargo has benefited the Maine farmer in that better prices have been secured for high grade fruit than when fruit was shipped ungraded."

Since November 15th, requirements to England and Continental ports have been more liberal," he stated, "due to the fact that English and Continental crops have been practically consumed with the resultant increase in demand for American apples. Competition between steamship lines for freight has caused them to accept unsolicited fruit." But correspondence received by the Maine Department of Agriculture from the representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture warns against shipments of unsolicited fruit, pointing out that due to the relaxation of inspection requirements some 40,000 barrels are being handled at low prices.

"The department officials give as their best observation on conditions now existing that while it is possible to export apples temporarily without inspection, yet it is and will be advisable to export only such fruit as may strengthen the demand and outlet on the other side of the water."

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Barker, two nights, Thursday and Friday, was the scene of a side-splitting comedy masquerading under the name of "Aunt Lucia." If a merry hearted good luck like a medicine, there can not be many ailing in Kezar Falls this week. The play was staged by local people, taken largely from the ranks of the Legionnaires and the Kiwanians, and was for the benefit of Carroll S. West Post, No. 1, of Fryeburg.

There was plenty of work for rehearsals were frequent, and Aunt Lucia and the flappers had to be in style, and the result was all that could be asked for, being an unqualified success in every way. Mr. and Mrs. Standish A. Riley of Bangor made a hurried call on Mr. and Mrs. Owen Palmer, coming late at night and returning early in the day, but there was no time for a visit to the hospital and they were anxious about her and divided the time as best they could.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kimball were in South Paris, Sunday.

Mrs. Elmer Baker spent the week end in North Conway, N. H.

Mrs. Elmer Baker spent the day, Saturday, with her daughter, Mrs. Chester Heath at East Conway, N. H.

Prices for Maine Fruit Been Satisfactory—Export Fruit Which Strengthens Demand

Four hundred and thirty-three cars containing 75,000 barrels of apples, none of which has met with any reversals in England have been inspected to date by the Maine Inspection service, according to Frank P. Washburn, Commissioner of Agriculture.

This practically perfect record for the reception of Maine apples abroad is proof of the value of an inspection service inaugurated last fall as the result of the so-called British embargo on apples, he said.

"Seven men trained in Maine by W. C. Hacklman, regional inspector at New York, worked during October and November, the heaviest shipping months in the wide territory bounded North, East, South and West by Dover-Foxcroft, East Lebanon, Fryeburg and Winterport. The work of inspection constantly grows easier as growers and shippers come to realize the quality factors which purchasers look for when making contracts for delivery of apples."

The inspection service was brought about, he said, as a result of the Maine measure requiring Federal-state certificates to accompany each shipment of apples to the United Kingdom. Apples are required to be of No. 1 grade or finer, free from apple maggot injury, with not over 10 per cent injury from other worms, and with chemical analysis of spray residue less than .01 grain of arsenic to one pound of the fruit.

"Prices for Maine fruit have been satisfactory," he said. "Good quality fruit at point of shipment is netting as high as three and a half dollars a barrel. The so-called embargo has benefited the Maine farmer in that better prices have been secured for high grade fruit than when fruit was shipped ungraded."

Since November 15th, requirements to England and Continental ports have been more liberal," he stated, "due to the fact that English and Continental crops have been practically consumed with the resultant increase in demand for American apples. Competition between steamship lines for freight has caused them to accept unsolicited fruit." But correspondence received by the Maine Department of Agriculture from the representative of the U. S. "The department officials give as their best observation on conditions now existing that while it is possible to export apples temporarily without inspection, yet it is and will be advisable to export only such fruit as may strengthen the demand and outlet on the other side of the water."

Follow directions on the containers that need the pigments are sold. Mix paint from dry red lead in the following proportions just before it is used: Red lead, dry, 50 pounds; raw linseed oil, 1-4 gallons; oil drier, 1 pint. This makes 2-1/2 gallons of paint. To make a cheaper paint, mix red or brown metallic pigment, linseed oil, and drier. Finishing coats for oil tanks and other structures that need protection from the sun should be white or light colored. Mix them like outside house paints. Prepare aluminum paint by mixing aluminum bronzing powder, preferably polished, with good outside spar varnish in the proportion of 2 pounds to a gallon. Aid to Normal Conditions

Outline of Address Given by C. C. Stetson of the Maine Development Commission

Early adjournment of Congress as an aid to early restoration of normal conditions, an embargo against the further importation of Russian products, mobilization of American youth to protect American standards, establishment of a Second Maine College Economic Conference were the high points of an address by Clarence C. Stetson, chairman of the Maine Development Commission to the students of Colby College, recently.

Pointing out that true prosperity can only be restored "by recognizing the law of supply and demand," Mr. Stetson declared that "The United States Senate is trying to do away with the law of supply and demand and to substitute for it law artificial curatives that history has proved can never be successful."

"President Hoover creates he said, selfishly destroy confidence." He called a plea for getting down to fundamental economic principles, for work and not for talk. "This situation should be recognized by the American people and the senate should be to let them to do such work as is necessary to permit the government to function, and then to adjourn until their next regular meeting in December."

The fortunate situation Maine finds itself in today he attributed to its balanced program of agriculture, industry and recreation, and referred especially to the fact that Maine is a state where Maine people live within their incomes, which enables them to save annually. The Development Commission's program has covered advertising, publication of pamphlets, general newspaper and magazine publicity, surveys and conferences with a view of boosting Maine both within and without the State.

With a view to giving Maine students a better understanding of the state's opportunities, and furnishing business executives a chance to pick out executive material from the student bodies, the Second Maine College Economic Conference sponsored by the Development Commission will be held. A meeting of representatives of the four colleges will shortly be held to arrange the details, he said.

Continuation of Maine's prosperity is dependent on resumption of general prosperity throughout the country and the world, he stated. He pointed out Russia as a serious economic danger. "Even Russia is suffering because of the importation of Russian pulpwood. This has already had a serious effect on the value of our wild lands and forest woodlots. If this is allowed to continue, these values will shrink further. The cure is an embargo against further importation of Russian products."

Depression, he declared, came with regularity, following periods of expansion. "They should be looked upon as furnishing opportunities for progress and advancement. They give play for leadership. It is my belief that there is no greater chance furnished to the young men and women of this country than at present for developing those very qualities of leadership which will give them in years to come a just reward for those efforts directed toward greater service to the public."

American trading with Russia, he characterized as unpatriotic and short sighted, stating that modern machinery, conscript labor, and conscription have enabled Russia shortly to dump upon our local and foreign markets convict made goods at a price with which we cannot compete.

present, but one, Mrs. Mabel Jackson,

Mrs. Cairns was a most efficient installing officer. Two songs, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "The Sun Shines Bright," were sung. The service was after Ceres. Three or four beautiful bat-teaux were shown during the work by the South Paris team, all of which made the service very impressive. The afternoon program was all open and several outside the membership were present. After the installation a short program was given, consisting of familiar songs by the Grange; a reading, "The Weavers," by John Andrews; remarks by Rev. A. E.
Roberts, R. L. Cummings and Percy Mil-entitled, "Old Maid's Adventure" by the young people from South Paris with the following characters: Mary Sum-pkins, old maid, Arline Millett; Nora, Irish maid, Martha Briggs; Frances Smith, boarder, Alta Harriman; which was very amusing. Mrs. Annie Davis of South Woodstock played the march for the installation and Lewis Woodworth sang the songs connected with it. All had a good time.

Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes entertained the Ministerial Association of thirteen ministers and eleven wives were present. A very helpful session was held. The service assisted by Mrs. A. L. Abbott, hosted light refreshments at a social hour which followed.

Through the helpfulness of a committee of three men interested in the safety and pleasure of the community children, Edwin J. Mann, Dr. Edwin Kay and Harold H. Gammon, a skating rink has been made in the field belonging to Mrs. Mabel Mann, an indenture, living on the main house and the Universalist church on Main street. An enclosure was built of boards around the lot and then flooded with water pumped in from the river
by the fire equipment by the Paris Mfg.
Co. power several nights in succession.

has been stretched across it for evening convenience and the place is greatly en-
